

Robin Kessinger and Kate Long: workshops with master teachers Flatpick guitar and Songwriting/creative writing

Friday evening, April 25. 7 – 10 PM $50 for three hours. That's a deal!

See www.robinandkate.com for mp3s and info. Be sure not to miss their Thursday night concert. E-mail David.peaslee@comcast.net to make a concert reservation and get directions. Concert starts 7:30, Thursday April 24 / $15

Flatpicking Guitar: Robin Kessinger Tunes, tricks, rhythms and harmonies

7 – 10 PM / $50 for three hours. Make your reservation now.

Robin knows a thousand ways to improve your ability to play melody, fancy rhythms, and harmony. Tablature/chord sheets will be available, but you'll also learn the old fashioned way - by ear - watching, listening, and learning, just like Robin did when his dad and uncle taught him Appalachian tunes he still plays. Learn different twists and harmonies you can use when you play Appalachian, Celtic, and bluegrass tunes. Bring a flatpick, a capo, and a recording device. Participants should know standard chords and be able to operate a flatpick.

Creative Writing Toolbox: Kate Long Take your lyrics – or whatever you write – to the next level.

7 – 10 PM in Vancouver. Limited to 10 participants. Reservations required.

Not only has Kate Long written national award-winning stories and songs (e.g. "Who Will Watch the Homeplace"), she has worked as a professional writing coach for 24 years. She really knows how to deliver writing tools you can use to take your lyrics – or whatever you write - to the next level. She'll even show you how to apply the tools to your own life story.

Her students give her rave reviews. As one Swannanoa Gathering student wrote, "I do not believe there is a writing instructor in the U.S. who can top Kate's ability to bring out the best in students of all levels." Bring a pencil, a notebook, and a song or story idea: it will bloom. This class will be kept small, so reservations are required.
